

SAVE THE PACIFIC SAVE THE WORLD

Dear Prime Minister Scott Morrison

It's time for Australia to step up and do our fair share by ensuring our emissions plummet this decade.

Climate change, fuelled by the burning of coal, oil and gas, exacerbates poverty and inequality and is the single greatest threat to communities throughout Australia and the Pacific.

As a major coal and gas producer, and with unrivalled clean energy potential, Australia has one of the greatest responsibilities and a unique opportunity to support our Pacific family and secure a prosperous future for our region based on clean energy.

This Earth Day, 22nd April, the world's major economies are meeting for a special climate summit hosted by US President Joe Biden. All our major allies, trading partners and businesses are taking stronger action. Australia is being left behind.

Lives and livelihoods are already being impacted by climate change. It's time for Australia to step up and do our fair share by ensuring emissions plummet this decade to well below half of their current levels.
